

STRANGER'S HOUSE

Strangers! | Basement appears! | No clear ending!

Strange & Strangers

During the second part of this night's sleep time Mr Peek, (Having gone back to bed after writing the first dream episode.) found himself returning home (After an unknown adventure with a lady on a cable car.) to find that two or three strangers had moved into the basement. Which is indeed most dream-like and peculiar because Mr Peek's house normally doesn't have a basement.

No Leaving!

On seeing the strangers Mr Peek spoke kindly to them and asked when they would be leaving. The two men, and one woman who was sort of there but only on the outskirts of the dream, said, "Don't think we're leaving just yet, are we?" Then, just as he was speaking another man appeared in the basement with a big rucksack on his back.

Pretty annoying.

Mr Peek and his wife both agreed that it was all pretty annoying at which point Mr Peek woke up but, even though awake, still felt concerned.

After the Dream

Dreaming while still awake!

This was a strange and slightly unnerving dream and made such an impression on Mr Peek that, once he was awake, he lay silently in bed and thought about the situation. He thought that probably if this situation really happened, which was actually impossible since there is no basement in his house, that he'd probably just call the police and ask them to get rid of the strangers for him, due to health and safety issues. Either that or he'd make it look like they'd killed each other like Macbeth did in the play Macbeth.

Mr Peek quoted himself as having said that "...it's strange having two dreams in one night when I haven't had a dream in a long while..." unintentionally quoting the singer Morrissey whose music Mr Peek quite likes but isn't completely obsessed with.

Mr Peek then wrote about the dream whilst sitting with his 9-year-old son Lochie watching TV having written about it he posted it on Facebook with a rye smile.
